A. Mission Description and Budget Item Justification: The objective of this program is to develop and demonstrate soldier-oriented technologies to enhance soldier and unit performance. The reduction of training and other personnel costs through the development of effective training strategies that incorporate appropriate mixes of live, virtual, and constructive simulations is also a key goal of this program. Research and development (R&D) efforts include designing new ways to efficiently develop collective training; developing and demonstrating prototype training methods and programs that improve mission performance, devising training strategies using distributed training technology to conduct multi-site training, assessment, and feedback; and evaluating the effectiveness of compressed gunnery training strategies for the Reserve Component. R&D will also design innovative methods and technologies to develop effective leaders for small team operations and for developing Battle Commanders for the digitized battlefield. Work in this program element is consistent with the Army Science and Technology Master Plan, the Army Modernization Plan, and Project Reliance. This PE is managed by the U.S. Army Research Institute (ARI) for the Behavioral and Social Sciences. FY 1999 Accomplishments: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 2869 - Developed prototype platoon and company team training support packages for Force XXI (digital) operations in the Close Combat Tactical Trainer (CCTT). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Refined and expanded applications of the prototype Commanders' Integrated Training Tool (CITT) for the CCTT and other simulation environments, including digital operations. - Developed and evaluated methods that assess unit command climate, and analyzed trends related to soldier, training, quality of life, and readiness issues. - Developed and demonstrated procedures for transferring training and assessment techniques, developed for the Army Special Forces, to other, conventional Army units. - Completed research design to assess the capability of the BeamHit small arms simulator to support rifle marksmanship training in the Reserve Component (RC). Total 2869 FY 2000 Planned Program: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 4887 - Develop and refine performance assessment tools for digital unit training in the CCTT and other simulation environments. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Assess utility of Force XXI training packages, focusing on those produced by units using the CITT and other available tools. - Conduct an annual assessment of Army command climate, identifying trends and new issues of concern to soldiers. - Compare distance learning to traditional up-front training of procedural and cognitive artillery skills to determine skill acquisition and retention effects.
